Meeting for the last time during the current terms of the present officers, members of the Gettysburg school board ordered minor repairs to school buildings, purchased 5,000 seedling pine trees for planting along the small stream in the north section of the high school grounds and transacted other routine business before adjourning to re-convene on Monday, December 5, for the annual organization meeting.

Dr. C. G. Crist presided with all members of the board and Superintendent L. C. Keefe in attendance.

The directors heard from the superintendent that no word has been received of any progress toward approval of the project which has been set up for the erection of a $160,000 junior high school building here. Board members said local authorities have done everything necessary to speed the project that now awaits P.W.A. approval for government funds.

Large 1938 tax collections during the last month were reported by Tax Collector H. H. Thomas in the monthly statement of the First National bank, school district treasurer. Of the total receipts of approximately $29,000 during the last month about $26,000 was in taxes. Expenditures amounted to $17,499, leaving a balance of $32,376 in the general fund as compared with a balance of $20,183 at the first of October. The sinking fund balance is $1,240.

The directors enrolled as members in the State School Directors' association.

The property committee was authorized to remove several trees at the high street school building and make repairs at the high school building. Electric clocks were ordered for the Meade school building and for the home economics department of the high school.

A $60 donation from the Metropolitan Edison company was acknowledged by the board. The check was sent on account of the board's decision to place electric stoves in the home economics department. Gas stoves are in use there also.

The monthly report of the high school cafeteria showed October receipts of $257.25 and expenditures of $235.09.

Sentences 'Cyclist In Cousin's Death

Judge John E. Fox in Dauphin county court in Harrisburg, Monday, sentenced Melvin C. Oyer, 20, of Harrisburg, to pay a $250 fine and to serve four months in jail on an involuntary manslaughter charge, after the court refused him a new trial.

Oyer was operating a tandem motorcycle with his cousin, Kenneth Oyer, of Gettysburg, on one of the seats, when the motorcycle and an automobile collided at Sixth and Munich streets, in Harrisburg, last May 10. Kenneth Oyer, Melvin's cousin, was fatally injured. A jury convicted Melvin Oyer but recommended mercy.

Judge Fox said that he, like the jury, was sympathetic toward the youth, but that the court has a duty to perform as a protection to the public. The court said the sentence was light, but if the youth's health is impaired by imprisonment, as his physician feared, the court will consider a petition for his parole. Melvin Oyer was seriously injured in the accident.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS MARK 20TH BOOK WEEK 'GOLDEN RULE'

Students of Gettysburg high school are celebrating the twentieth National Book Week with club displays, an assembly program and a "treasure hunt." The special events, which are under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Weaver, high school librarian, will be concluded on Thursday.

Each club at the high school has arranged a display illustrating how its activities are related to books and magazines. Some examples of the projects follow: The Maroon and White has borrowed material from The Gettysburg Times to show how an article is printed in the school paper; the typing club made sketches using typewriters; the etiquette club has prepared different kinds of invitations, and the dramatic club has dressed dolls to represent various costumes.

The assembly program on Wednesday morning will be conducted on the slogan of book week: "New Books, New Worlds." At the beginning of the period book marks will be given to the students. The program will include suggestions of books that it is believed will introduce the readers to new worlds. Also included on the assembly program will be the reading of "The Valiant," by Dr. Richard A. Arms, of the Gettysburg college faculty. "The Valiant" is a play that was produced on Broadway.

"Treasure Hunt"

One of the most important phases of the local observance of book week is the "treasure hunt" that has been planned, Miss Weaver said today. All students are invited to participate. The hunt is operated in the following manner:

Posters illustrating the titles of books have been placed in several Gettysburg store windows. The locations of the posters are important because they will help to suggest the titles of the books. For example, a poster illustrating the title of the book, "Under the Lilacs," by Louisa M. Alcott, would be placed in the window of a flower shop. In each case the author's name will be given. The posters will illustrate these titles: "Iron Heel," Jack London; "Country Kitchen," Della Lutes; "Bright Shawl," Joseph Hergeheimer; "Cabbage and Kings," O. Henry; "Green Apple Harvest," Sheila Kay Smith; "Black Tulip," Alexander Dumas; "Prince and Pauper," Mark Twain; "Wild Geese," Martha Ostenso; "Blue Window," Temple Bailey; "Rose and Ring," Thackeray; "Vanity Fair," Thackeray; "Time Out of Mind," Rachel Fields; "Light That Failed," Kipling; "Drums," James Boyd, and "Off to Philadelphia," Marjorie Allen.

Stores that have the posters displayed are located on center square; on the first two blocks of Baltimore street, and on the first blocks of York and Chambersburg streets.

LUTHERANS ARE ASKED TO USE 'GOLDEN RULE'

The final session of a two-day conference and pastors' institute that was attended by ministers and laymen from Lutheran churches in Adams, York and Cumberland counties was held this afternoon in St. James Lutheran church.

The institute for clergy was opened this morning with the Rev. Dr. S. T. Nicholas and the Rev. Dr. C. P. Wiles, representatives of the United Lutheran church in America, as leaders. They were in charge of discussions at the morning and afternoon sessions on topics of special interest to the assembled ministers.

Monday's conference program reached its climax in the evening with a mass meeting held in St. James church and attended by pastors and laymen. Major Edward L. Holman, headmaster of Carson Long institute, New Bloomfield, spoke on the subject of "A Layman's Responsibility to His Church."

Gettysburg Graduate

Major Holman, a graduate of Gettysburg college in the class of 1921, challenged the Lutheran laymen to put their church teaching principles to work and to live so that their fellow men would know by their actions that they were Christians. He said that the ministers were doing their best from the pulpits, but that the laymen should wake to their duties as important parts of the church.

In closing, the speaker urged his audience to practice the principle of the "golden rule" in their daily lives as a means of showing that they really are serious in pursuing Christian objectives.

During the afternoon business session of the West Pennsylvania conference of the Central Pennsylvania synod, the constitution for the new organization was adopted and the officers were re-elected.

Officers Re-Elected

The officers who again will lead the conference, formerly known as the West Pennsylvania synod of the Lutheran church before its absorption by the new Central Pennsylvania synod, will be the Rev. Dwight F. Putman, of Gettysburg, president, and the Rev. R. R. Gresh and the Rev. E. C. Ruby, both of York, secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Included in the talks delivered on Monday were those by the Rev. Mr. Gresh; the Rev. Dr. M. R. Hamsher, Harrisburg, president of the Central Pennsylvania synod; the Rev. Dr. H. C. Alleman, Gettysburg, and the Rev. Dr. Amos John Traver, of Frederick. The last named minister spoke at the luncheon preceding the mass meeting.

The Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary chorus presented two selections at the mass meeting.

All meetings during the two days were held in the St. James Lutheran church.

JURIES ACQUIT DEFENDANTS IN 3 TRIALS HERE

The case of Lawrence T. Owens, 418 Baltimore street, Hanover, in which the defendant is charged with drunken driving by a state motor policeman, went on trial this afternoon in Adams county court, the fourth action to go before a jury at the current session.

A sealed verdict read at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, in which David V. Trimmer, near East Berlin, was found not guilty of a charge of beating his wife, brought to three the total number of acquittals given defendants at this session. None of the five defendants in the three cases already completed has been found guilty of the offenses charged.

Late Monday afternoon a jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case in which Edward Millhimes, Roy Millhimes and David Z. Ford, Straban township, were charged with simple and aggravated assault and battery by Bert R. Feeser, New Chester, owner of the farm on which Edward Millhimes was tenant. The case grew out of a fight which occurred in a New Chester store on a Saturday evening in September.

The verdict directed that the costs of the case be divided equally between Feeser and Edward Millhimes. Judge W. C. Sheely ordered both men to pay the costs by Saturday or appear in court on that day.

Grand Jury Dismissed

Shortly before noon today a verdict of not guilty was returned in the case of Edward W. Schuchart, Hanover R. 4, in which hit and run driving was charged. The late Officer Charles H. Craven, of the state motor police, was the original prosecutor in the case. His place was taken during the trial by Officer R. C. Lightner, of the Gettysburg detail who had assisted in the investigation. The costs of the case were placed upon the county.

The members of the grand jury for this session were dismissed late Monday afternoon after they had completed their inspection of the county jail and the county home and submitted a report to the court stating they found every thing "very satisfactory."

In the Trimmer assault and battery case which was disposed of swiftly this morning, Mrs. Minnie Trimmer took the stand and described a beating her husband had given her after coming home drunk on the evening of August 12.

Accounts of Tussle

Her account of the beating was supported in part by the brief testimony of two other witnesses and then Trimmer mounted the witness stand and told the jury he and his wife had been "kidding" each other (Continued on Page Two) and that when she flung a dish towel across his face he chased her out of the house intending to wash her face with the towel. Mrs. Trimmer was accidentally bumped against a brick wall in the chase and although momentarily ruffled, she returned to the house and Trimmer said he had no hint that ill feeling existed until his arrest 18 days later on the day when his wife left him.

This jury deliberated about 15 minutes on the case: T. S. Blocher, Littlestown; Dale Bricker, Biglerville; Clarence Bumbaugh, Straban township; Harry G. Fleming, Straban township; C. B. A physician's certificate was filed with the court stating that Eicholtz is ill with coronary occlusion; has been confined to bed since October 1, and is now unable to leave his room. The case has been held over until January court.

The Schuchart hit and run driving case went on trial late Monday afternoon but the taking of testimony was completed before court adjourned about 5 o'clock. The defendant was charged with having failed to stop after his car had collided with the machine of Lester C. Utz, Hanover, on the night of September 16, in a fog on the Hanover-Littlestown road. Utz and other state's witnesses said they witnessed the collision and that drivers following Schuchart trailed him toward Hanover, secured his license number and turned it over to police.

Jury Out an Hour

On the witness stand both Schuchart and his driving companion admitted they heard a scratching sound as the Utz car passed but believed no damage had been done. Schuchart said, after the cars brushed, "That was close," it was testified. Both men looked back but could not see any parked car and presumed the other driver also had continued, they said.

The jury deliberated more than an hour before bringing in its verdict of acquittal. These persons formed the jury: Harry E. Brown, Fairfield; Rufus H. Bushman, Gettysburg; Vinnie L. Eicholtz, Gettysburg; Mrs. Tillie McBeth, Huntingdon township; Robert Moul, Hamilton township; Harvey Newman, Franklin township; J. A. Phiel, Gettysburg; Russell C. Rohrbach, Cumberland township; Harvey Slaybaugh, Menallen township; Paul Sneeringer, Mt. Pleasant township; Earl Walter, Butler township; and Thomas O. Weaver, Littlestown.

Republican Predicts Roosevelt's Re-Election

Miami Beach, Nov. 15 (AP)—Frank E. Gannett, Rochester, New York, newspaper publisher and prominent republican, predicted today President Roosevelt would run for a third term and win re-election.

"No one in the President's party is strong enough with the public to carry through the new deal program," he said in an interview upon arrival at his winter home for a week's vacation.

"We republicans should not fool ourselves. It will not be easy to defeat Roosevelt, even with the third-term tradition working against him."

"Only a coalition of the conservatives of both parties could bring such a defeat and I'm inclined to believe the President will win re-election on the basis of carrying the 'solid south,' New York, Illinois and California—those states which are regarded by many political authorities as constituting the democratic majority."

War, fears of war and the tragic plight of Jews in Germany troubled the world today.

The drastic Nazi drive against Jews was said by Washington political quarters to be the cause for United States Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson's hurried trip home from his Berlin post.

Wilson announced he would leave Wednesday for consultations in Washington which were expected to cover the entire German situation, with emphasis on the anti-Jewish demonstrations of last week.

German newspapers severely criticized British "cruelities" in administration of colonies and particularly administration of the Palestine mandate, a press drive seen as the Nazi reply to the wave of British protest against the treatment of Jews in Germany.

But a new light was cast on Germany's relations with the democracies as a French government spokesman disclosed a French-German agreement was near completion as a postscript to the Munich settlement which revised Europe's political lineup.

The agreement would renounce war between the two enemies of old. In Britain Prime Minister Chamberlain faced increasing signs of dissent within his own conservative party on two pressing issues—German colonial ambitions and rearmament.

One group of government supporters in parliament entered a motion that the house of commons affirm that "no agreement should be made" without the consent of the British people for transferring

Introduces 2 Bills To Curb Race Data

Harrisburg, Nov. 15 (AP)—Weeks of investigation into race track wires today produced legislation for a strict curb on distribution of race information in Pennsylvania.

Senator Edward J. Thompson (D-Centre), chairman of the inquiring committee, laid two measures before the general assembly with an assertion that his group had found "an extensive racket" in the state.

The bills would outlaw devices for dissemination of information "for gambling purposes."

They were given immediate approval of the judiciary general committee in the senate and came out for action on the floor.

C.I.O. Takes no Steps To Heal Labor Breach

Pittsburgh, Nov. 15 (AP)—The C.I.O. convention today adopted its "peace" committee's report which did not recommend any new steps to heal the breach with the American Federation of Labor.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 15 (AP)—The C.I.O. "peace" committee's report, declaring "there can be no compromise" with the organization's "fundamental purpose and aim" of organizing workers into "powerful industrial unions," was brought today to the floor of the C.I.O.'s first convention.

The report asserted there could be no compromise with the C.I.O.'s "obligation to fully protect the rights and interests of all its members and affiliated organizations."

U. S. Calls Envoy Home to Report on Nazi 'Situation'

Republicans Not to Hold Victory Parade

Following a meeting of the executive group of the Adams county republican committee, Chairman John H. Basehore made definite announcement that there will be no parade to celebrate the victory at the polls last Tuesday.

Basehore stated: "At a meeting of the executive committee Monday evening, the members expressed themselves as being opposed to a victory parade. They regarded this election, not as a republican victory but a new deal defeat, to which innumerable old line Jeffersonian democrats contributed."

Changes in Roosevelt Cabinet Are Hinted

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—White house officials declined comment again today on recurring reports that Attorney General Cummings would leave the cabinet, but indicated President Roosevelt might have something to say at his afternoon press conference.

No hint was given whether Mr. Roosevelt would confirm or deny the reports, but friends in official life said Cummings several times has voiced a desire to return to private law practice.

Other cabinet changes have been rumored with increased frequency since last week's election. Besides Cummings, the possible changes mentioned have involved Secretary of Commerce Roper; Secretary of the Navy Swanson, and Secretary of War Woodring.

30 Companies Indicted In Anti-Trust Probe

Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP)—More than 30 companies, officials of two labor unions and four Chicago city officials were named today in two federal indictments charging violation of the anti-trust laws in the milk and ice cream industries.

The indictments, returned November 1 after 16 weeks of grand jury investigation and a year's work by the Department of Justice, had been suppressed until today at the request of the government.

They marked another step in one of the most extensive anti-monopoly campaigns in American history.

One indictment, charging anti-trust violations in the sale of fluid milk in the Chicago area, named 13 firms and 51 individuals. The other, alleging an illegal combination and conspiracy of nationwide proportions in the ice cream field, listed 21 individuals and two firms.

IRWIN FACES LIFE IN PRISON

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Robert Irwin, whose disease-warped mind ranged from creation of promising sculptures and an ambition for the ministry to a maniacally twisted jealousy in which he killed three persons, faced today a lifetime in prison.

He boasted he would be free within 10 years.

Psychiatrists predicted, instead, that he would be dead within five, a victim of tuberculosis.

The 31-year-old sculptor-slayer bargained protestingly Monday to escape the electric chair.

He finally pleaded guilty to second degree murder after creating a courtroom scene, alternately enacting a screaming maniac, almost incoherent, and a crafty pleader against injustice.

Irwin stabbed and bludgeoned Veronica Gedeon, a beautiful photographer's model; her mother, and a boarder, Frank Byrnes, in the modest Gedeon apartment on the midtown east side on Easter day, 1937.

By the strange machinations of his mind the crimes were committed in vengeance for the failure of his suit for the affections of Veronica's sister, now Mrs. Ethel Kudner, whom he met as a Gedeon boarder after his expulsion from divinity studies at St. Lawrence university and release from various insane asylums.

The guilty plea was offered before a jury to try him for first degree murder had been completed.

Daughter Testifies Against Father at His Murder Trial

Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP)—A criminal court jury which heard a 10-year-old girl testify against her father at his trial on a charge of murdering his wife awaited today the defendant's story from the witness stand.

The accused was James K. Maters, 43, an industrial engineer formerly of Harrisburg, who was arrested after his wife, Marguerite, was found fatally wounded last October 1 at their suburban Brookfield home.

Matters' counsel said in his opening statement to the jury Monday he would show that the slaying was an accident and that the defendant was insane at the time.

Matters' daughter, Martha Jean, testified her parents had quarreled in their bedroom while she lay in bed in a nearby room. Frightened and weeping, she related the subsequent events at the urging of Prosecutor John P. Boyle.

"What did you hear your mother say?"

"She said: 'Please don't shoot me, Jim. Maybe she was saying 'Don't shout at me, Jim.'"

Martha Jean said she heard a "big noise" and that she ran to her mother's room, found her body on a bed, her father standing nearby and a rifle on the floor.

"What did your daddy say?" asked the prosecutor.

"He said: 'Mother shot herself.'"

"What did you do with the gun?"

"I put it in a closet."

"Who told you to put it in the closet?"

"Daddy."

After giving her testimony, Martha Jean ran from the witness stand to her father, embraced him and wept.

NOTRE DAME IS VOTED LEADING TEAM THIS WEEK

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—The way things have been going lately, almost any team that hasn't had the tar licked out of it is good for at least a vote or two in the weekly Associated Press football ranking poll. Right now, however, Notre Dame is on top of a heap that includes 31 colleges.

Where the Irish will be in another week or two is another question. They were hardly in sight a few weeks ago. Then they whipped Army, Navy and Minnesota on successive Saturdays and earned the No. 1 ranking by a comfortable margin over Texas Christian, last week's leader. They play Northwestern, first conqueror of Minnesota, next Saturday, then go on to tackle Southern California December 3.

Notre Dame drew 60 first place votes from 92 sports writers who participated in the fifth poll of the season. Northwestern drew 23 points for 16th place and that combination easily makes the tussle of the Irish and the Wildcats this week's foremost gridiron attraction.

T. C. U. plays Rice, an in-and-out of the Southwest conference, Saturday.

Other major contests listed for the leaders are Duke (No. 4) against North Carolina State, Pittsburgh (No. 5) against Penn State, Oklahoma (No. 7) against Iowa State in a game which will decide the exciting big six title race, and California (No. 9) against Stanford.

The first ten (first place votes in brackets, points scored on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis) follow:

TEAM	POINTS
Notre Dame (60)	887
Texas Christian (19)	786
Tennessee (5)	639
Duke (5)	586
Pittsburgh (2)	532
Carnegie Tech	407
Oklahoma (1)	315

Sports Roundup

By SID FEDER

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Herman Taylor, the Philly promoter, is willing to guarantee Maxie Baer 50 C's to tangle with Tony Galento in Atlantic City in February. For a couple of football Connie Mack's how about Chick Agnew, 20-year coach at Whitewater (Wisconsin) Teachers, and Bob Kolb, 18 years at Oshkosh. Incidentally, the grand old Mr. Mack still reports regularly to his desk in Shibe park, even during these off-season days. Might keep your ears tuned his way for one of the bigger winter trades. Isn't it about time the "howl" breezes started blowing Oklahoma's way. Kansas scouts, who looked over the Sooners before their game, reported Tom Stidham's line was the best the Jayhawks would see in two years. And that didn't exclude that Notre Dame front wall. Sooners haven't been scored on through the line all season.

Twinkletons Selkirk reports the Yanks'll come up with more punch and power in '39. With Charley Keller and Buddy Rosar in from Newark. Note to college football coaches: This corner can steer you onto a high school senior passer, who can pitch that apple like old Diz when he was going good. Send inquiries. Can crack the line and kick, but his pitching has kept his Long Island team undefeated this season.

Backfire dept: Coach Earl Svendsen, of Kirksville (Missouri) Teachers has to take an aspirin every time he reads a Northwestern game box score—and comes across the name of the Whitecaps' crack quarterback, Nick Conteas. Nick warned the Kirksville bench for a whole season three years back, while Svendsen's predecessor was giving a couple of other guys the call. Nick didn't like it, so he transferred to Northwestern. And now Kirksville's big weakness is quarterback—or lack of it. Add iron-men: Baylor's bullet Joe Patterson is still looking for his first minute off in 13 games over two seasons. And Joe Shepherd, Kentucky's pony quarterback, was in there for only 60 minutes against Vandy. W. & L. Bama, Georgia Tech and Clemson.

ENDERS ELECTED PRESIDENT

Don "Tick" Enders, former Gettysburg college athlete and new coach at Lykens high school, was elected president of the Upper Dauphin county interscholastic basketball league at a meeting Monday evening.

BANKER DIES

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 15 (AP)—Charles Ogilby, 79, active in New York banking circles, was stricken fatally in a theater here Monday. He had returned to his birthplace a year ago for a visit and suffered a heart attack that kept him here since. He was associated with H. M. Byllesby company, investment brokers, at the time of his death. The funeral will be held here Thursday.

LOOKING AROUND

The average jumped slightly on last week's football choices but not as much as we had expected. Of 30 selections 20 were right, seven wrong and three were ties. The record is now 164 right, 56 wrong and 14 ties.

Congratulations are in order for Eugene Martin, former Gettysburg high school athletic mentor and now coach at Mansfield State Teachers' college. On Saturday the Martinmen finished their season by defeating St. Francis 7-0 to complete a perfect season with seven straight wins. The only points scored on Mansfield resulted from a safety by Millersville. Mansfield apparently has clinched the state teachers' college title with five victories in as many starts. Nice work, Gene.

BIGLERVILLE high school will play its final game of the season at Hummelstown Friday night under the lights. Unless the upper counties show a complete reversal of form a victory should result for the Yohe-men which would make the current season the best in history at Biglerville.

While Gettysburg college and Gettysburg high school groom for their big games with Dickinson and Hanover, respectively, next week, the Bullet freshman squad is being primed for its final game of the season at Carlisle Saturday afternoon with the Dickinson yearlings.

ALREADY sport fans are beginning to "talk up" the Dickinson-Gettysburg game here next Thursday which will be the first time in history the Bullets have played at home on Thanksgiving Day. A good break in the weather may result in the record-breaking attendance at the F. and M. tilt being eclipsed.

A 22-game basketball schedule was recently approved for the Waynesboro high school team. The Tornado will participate in both the Southern Pennsylvania and Cumberland Valley leagues during the coming season.

BUSINESS MEN and sport followers of the Gettysburg college and high school football teams are laying plans to hold a banquet for both squads at a date to be announced later. As one of those backing the proposed banquet so aptly put it, the theme will be "less speaking and more eating" which should find favor with all concerned.

On Wednesday the Gettysburg college soccer team will play Western Maryland at Westminster. The game previously had been scheduled for October 28.

PITZER'S TEAM WINS

Pitzer's school defeated Greenmount school on the gridiron last Friday, 56-9, in a game played on the former's field.

Says Army Needs Anti-Aircraft Guns

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—A possible hint of the nature of President Roosevelt's forthcoming proposals to bolster national defense came Monday from General Malin Craig, army chief of staff.

More than men, he said in his annual report, the army needs anti-aircraft weapons, along with searchlights and fire control equipment, new guns to cope with tanks, and additional semi-automatic rifles for the infantry.

These, together with augmented supplies of aerial bombs and other ammunition, will be required to put the regular army of 165,000 men and the 205,000 National guardsmen more nearly on a war footing.

Mr. Roosevelt, some informed persons believe, already has incorporated the gist of General Craig's recommendations in the program to be presented to congress.

To meet deficiencies in essential equipment would cost about $142,000,000, by official estimates. This year congress allowed $18,000,000 for anti-aircraft guns and other weapons.

General Craig's report, drafted weeks ago, made only brief mention of aircraft. Military circles have heard that the President definitely intends, as a result of Europe's recent crisis, to ask congress to triple the army's future air strength. Such a recommendation would create a fleet of 7,000 to 10,000 planes, exclusive of the navy's projected 3,000.

The army's present planes are "unexcelled by any military planes in the world," General Craig reported. He predicted craft already building would assure attainment of the army's present goal of 2,320 first line warplanes by mid-1940.

Lower Paxton	1	6	0	.048
Juniata Joint H. S.	1	3	0	.000
Washington Twp.	0	3	0	.000

New Cumberland high school's football team, although held to a tie by Biglerville high schools eleven on Saturday, forged away out in front in the Lower Susquehanna conference as a result of that tie and victories gained by three of its defeated foes.

Millersburg high, dropped from the undefeated class by Camp Hill high, is on second place, forty-one percentage points back of the New Cumberland High Tigers in the race for honors, and seems to have little chance of overtaking the Tigers unless New Cumberland loses at least one of its two remaining games.

Millersburg high had a game scheduled with Juniata Joint high of Mifflintown for Saturday but the latter school asked to cancel the contract. However, now that the race has become so close, Millersburg officials will likely insist on playing the game, for by winning it the Indians might better their chances for the loop title. If Millersburg could beat Juniata Joint high, it could then drop Duncannon high from its correction factor and thus boost its total.

Biglerville high also gained by its tie with New Cumberland but can hope to reach the top only through some set of circumstances which would cause New Cumberland to lose both its remaining games and Millersburg to lose to Juniata Joint high. Biglerville high is now third in the standing.

Camp Hill high jumped into fourth place in the conference standing, mostly as a result of its victory over Millersburg, but it holds only .001 of a point lead over the fifth place Enola high team.

Newport dropped into sixth place and Lemoyne retained its hold on seventh place as Susquehanna Township high slipped into eighth place.

Otherwise the standing remained unchanged except for point totals. Lower Paxton high got its first points of the season as a result of Juniata Joint high's win over Washington Township.

GALENTO BEATS THOMAS IN 3D

Philadelphia, Nov. 15 (AP)—Fight fans wondered today about Tony Galento's unimpressive return to the ring after an absence of four months.

Appearing in his first fight since he was taken ill with pneumonia in midsummer, the beer-loving saloon keeper of Orange, New Jersey, scored a three-round technical knockout over Harry Thomas, of Eagle Bend, Minnesota, at Convention hall Monday night.

A crowd of 10,000 which promoter Herman Taylor said paid a gross gate of $23,000, boomed long and loud as Thomas dropped to the floor five times in the third round before Referee Tommy O'Keefe stopped the fight after 2:20 of the round. Galento weighed 236, Thomas 198 1/2.

Galento, ranked by the National Boxing association as the leading challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight championship, first flattened Thomas for a count of seven. The second count went to four, the third to nine and the fourth to six.

The fifth time Thomas was down for eight. He tried to get to his feet, but when he fell to one knee Referee O'Keefe waved Galento's hand aloft in token of victory.

Most of Galento's punches were left hooks and seemed light blows, but Tony explained in the dressing room afterward: "I hit him on the temple. I don't know why the crowd boomed. I've knocked out tougher guys with lighter punches."

CRASH IN LITTLESTOWN

NEW THOMAS JEFFERSON NICKEL IS DISTRIBUTED

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—Heads, it's Thomas Jefferson; tails, it's his Monticello home.

That is the description of the new American nickel put into circulation today through the nation's banks. Eleven million of the coins were ready for distribution, and millions more will be minted.

The nickel, which really is three-quarters copper, was designed by Felix Schlag, of Chicago, a naturalized German, who won the treasury's $1,000 competition.

The nickel in use for the last 25 years bore a buffalo and an Indian head. Eventually it will become extinct, for no new ones will be minted.

MAJOR PARTIES PROMISE EACH OTHER SUPPORT

Harrisburg, Nov. 15 (AP)—Results of last week's election today brought democrats and republicans in Pennsylvania's legislature up against the fact that they need each other to pass any bills next year.

This new sentiment prevailed in the senate Monday night as the general assembly returned from the election holiday to consume the last few days of the dying 1938 special session.

The halls were crammed with faces familiar a few years ago—republicans returned to exchange congratulations on the quick turn of affairs that saw a democratic-controlled legislature switch overnight.

The new legislature, meeting in January, will have a republican-dominated house. The senate will be 26 to 24 in favor of the democrats, with a republican governor.

Republican strategists started immediately to plan for help in the 1939 senate. The floor leader, Clarence J. Buckman, admitted after a caucus that "it was possible" the republican leaders would agree to vote with the democrats now on the confirmation of democrats Arthur Colegrove as public utility commissioner and Leo J. Crossen, chairman of the liquor control board. These men have served interim appointments and their nominations have been held in the senate's executive nominations committee.

In return for support in the waning days of this session, it was to be assumed that democrats would go along on certain republican ventures in the regular 1939 session.

Crossen and Colegrove could serve until 1941 if they were confirmed.

Democrats held a whip inasmuch as Governor-elect Arthur H. James will need 34 votes to confirm his cabinet. A solid republican front would fall 10 short.

The senate seated one new member, Frederick Homsher, of Lancaster. He took the spot held by his late father, John G. Homsher, dean of the republican contingent.

Legislative action was confined to the introduction of bills by the Thompson committee to prohibit the dissemination of information for gambling purposes. The bills aimed at race wires were approved in committee without change.

The senate threw into a permanent pigeon hole the Huffman bill which would have shut off the pay of per diem legislative employees when the general assembly recesses for more than a week at a time.

The house rules committee huddled for several hours without announcing a decision on when the legislature would adjourn sine die. Most leaders expected the end of the session in two weeks.

An act to appropriate $7,500 to the committee investigating the conduct of Chief Magistrate John J. O'Malley, of Philadelphia, was introduced and referred to committee.

The house passed to the senate a $50,000 appropriation for surveys in the acquisition of land for extending capitol park.

WRITER, ACTRESS WIFE AND CHILD IN HOSPITAL

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 15 (AP)—John Monk Saunders, author and screen writer, and his actress wife, Fay Wray, were in separate wings of the huge University of Virginia hospital today while their three-year-old daughter, Susan, was in the children's ward.

Dr. David Wilson said he had been treating Saunders for "nervousness" which halted the 41-year-old writer's work in the university library two weeks ago.

Miss Wray was admitted to the hospital several days ago. Doctor Wilson said he did not know of her receiving any treatment and added that the child was being kept while Saunders was a patient.

A Novel Bet: Gettysburg, along with many other towns, had its novel election wager. Some time before the election Charlie Sefton and Herman Mertz, republicans, agreed with Harry Yeagy and Charlie Troxell, democrats, to saw a cord of wood in the square of the town and deliver it to the winners if Cleveland should win, and the latter were to do the same upon the event of Harrison's success. The democrats lost, Monday afternoon was chosen as the time, and the boys preceded by the drum corps, marched to their work. A great crowd had been attracted to see them "eat" up the wood. They were in their shirt sleeves, and had their red bandannas tied around their necks. Notwithstanding a great deal of "guying" the boys fulfilled their contract much to the amusement of the spectators.

FLUTTERY TOP NOTCH
WELL, growled, Jelly Bear, "we were going off on an eating-walk, out if we'd be helping Willy Nilly we'll take down the ladder and carry it over to him." Christopher did not answer their question directly. He merely cawed: "You'll have a better appetite than ever if you wait for the length of time it will take you to do this." "I don't know how I could have a better appetite," growled the cub, Chubby, but at once the bears set to work.

Now they were dragging the ladder away and Christopher waited for a few minutes.

Then he cawed softly: "Top Notch, Top Notch, are you inside the room?"

Top Notch had been looking around, and finding nothing of interest had appeared at the window. Suddenly he noticed with a shock that the ladder had disappeared.

"What has happened to the ladder?" he cawed. "How am I going to get down?"

Christopher Columbus Crow shrugged his wings.

Then he burst into a little cawing song.

Oh, Top Notch is feeling quite forlorn.
For the ladder is gone, the ladder is gone.
Caw, caw, what a dreadful thing to happen.
Top Notch was certainly caught a-nappin'.

"Napping is the word, and I was not asleep," cawed Top Notch. "Did you take the ladder away?" "Oh no," cawed Christopher. "I couldn't do a thing like that."

"But you probably had something to do with it. Can't you have it brought right back?" he asked nervously.

"Dear me," cawed Christopher, "I wouldn't dream of disturbing Willy Nilly. He's very busy. I'm sure you could get down if you tried."

Top Notch's wings fluttered nervously.

Tomorrow — "Christopher Laughs."

CHANCE TO ESCAPE
Lancaster, Pa., Nov. 15 (AP) — Hunter Bill Morton spotted a pheasant sitting on the ground. It hardly moved as he approached and picked it up in his hand. Then it fluttered violently in an attempt to escape. Norton tossed it into the air, took careful aim and shot it dead.

Old Dobbin is making a comeback in Kentucky which had 7,000 more horses on farms at the start of 1938 than in 1937.

YOUR BIRDS

HOW would you feel if you were to be told that never again would you cast your eyes upon a bird, never again listen to the thrilling songs of early morning just outside your window, never again roam in the open to be blessed in spirit by the friendly sight of beautiful winged inhabitants of the air?

We are constantly dreaming of an imaginary Heaven—yet we have it before our eyes from day to day—and in it we hear songs from the throats of birds that no instrument, or voice of man, has ever been able to equal. Each one of these cheerful creatures is a composer in his own right—each a Master performer.

There are no dependents in the world of birds. Each is an independent hustler for himself. They rent no homes. They build their own. They are great travelers. They make friends in all seasons. I wish every bird lover might read that beautiful chapter on "The Water-Ouzel" by John Muir which is contained in his fine book, "The Mountains of California." Unfortunately the book is rare, having been published in 1894, but it may be found in many libraries.

Each morning, when I enter the bathroom of my home to shave, I have to lean upon the window frame and watch the stocky sparrows that are forever there but a few feet from my view. I know them to be regular bullies, though small in size, yet I can't help but like them. They seem never to mind any weather, but to brave it all. And I like their companionship. My robin and catbird friends have already gone to their warmer climes. I no longer hear the cheery song of the wren. But starlings in great armies have visited for a few days, as well as other birds on their way South.

I envy the people of the Southland who have their mocking birds ever with them. Upon my first visit to Miami, Florida, I used to listen to their songs far into the night.

The birds are your friends. Feed them and protect them. They will repay you a thousand fold by their songs, their beauty, and their companionship. Their gratitude is wonderful. Their usefulness to man, in preserving his trees by destroying quantities of enemies of tree life is beyond accounting.

He who radiates a note of love to a child or a bird is worth having for a friend.

Chapter 10
In Official Charge

For a moment I thought Mrs. Flower had something to show me. But instead she began to chatter again.

"You know what keeps running through my head? It must be an old song, or something, about the shooting of Anne Carewe. Isn't that funny? But you know I'm kind of psychic that way. I seem to know things. But the oddest thing—it keeps running through my mind. About how the lady who shot her and pinched her poke was the lady whose name was Lou. Where do you suppose I could get a thing like that, unless it was a sort of spiritual revelation? After what we were saying awhile ago, too."

I felt dazed. "What do you mean?"
"Oh, don't you know? Well, I forgot, you're not very well acquainted here, are you? I mean, her name is Louella, of course, but nobody calls her that. It wouldn't fit, somehow. Everybody just calls her Lou."
"Who are you talking about?" I demanded.
"Why, Lou Orpington, of course. Who else?"
I caught sight of Adam entering the club and I felt like a giddy passenger when the merry-go-round begins to slow up. Things began to look more sane, my equilibrium was restored.

He came straight across to where we were standing, acknowledged Mrs. Flower's presence, said quickly to me: "I'm questioning everyone before they go home—I'll take you first," and stood aside to let me precede him.

In the reading room, behind closed doors, he lowered his voice confidentially.

"What I really wanted was to ask if you would take notes. Do you know shorthand?"
"Enough to get by. But look, Adam..." and I launched into an account of Charlie's disappearance. He stopped me midway.

"I took him back to quarters and put him to bed. He'll keep for a while. But before you say anything more I should warn you that I am in official charge of the investigation. One of the things I've been doing was to put a call through to Corps Area Headquarters for instructions. You see, in the absence of Colonel Wright, Anne's father, Major Carewe, is in command. I am next in rank."

"I broke the news to Major Carewe. He looked slightly sick at the memory, but continued evenly.

"Naturally he's too broken up to take charge. So the honors are mine. Now was there anything you wanted to tell me?"

I related faithfully all that had occurred since we separated, except for my disposal of Charlie's gun and my unwarranted intrusion into Elizabeth's affairs.

He listened intently, his small bright eyes the intense blue of a Bunsen-burner flame between their short white lashes, while I repeated Mrs. Flower's maudlinings about Lou Orpington.

"It seemed quite clear that she wanted it in the record that Mrs. Orpington was alone on the veranda at the time the shot was fired. And this afternoon at the polo game she more than hinted that Barney has been seen around the Orpington quarters entirely too much, with Captain Orpington away in camp. At least that was the way it sounded to me. She may not have meant a thing by it—she says the most awful things so innocently that you wonder if she knows what it's all about."

"I know. Amazing woman. Sometimes I think her wits are dim. Other times I'm not so sure. Her husband plays a remarkably fine game of bridge, but half the time she doesn't bother to follow suit. Insists on playing too. Don't see how he puts up with it."

"Oh, and when you came in she was reciting some nonsense about a psychic hunch—a song she said kept running through her head about the lady whose name was Lou..." I repeated as much as I could remember of it.

Adam's strong white teeth showed for an instant in a grin.

"The Shooting of Dan McGrew," he said. "That's like her." Then the grin faded. "The Shooting of Anne Carewe," he said softly and stared at me with puzzled eyes.

"You know, Kay, that's damn funny..." And the lady that was known as Lou. She is keen to put it on Lou Orpington."

"You don't think she did it herself? Mrs. Flower, I mean." He did not answer at once.

man, trying to analyze the hungry, baffled look on his narrow face. He was intensely excited; his agate-gray eyes were too bright, he was breathing too fast.

"You understand, of course, Major Drew, that we will be happy to help in any way possible," his mother was saying largely. "But, as you know, we keep ourselves to ourselves and are very careful never to be involved in the ugly intrigues that constantly occur on a post. One knows, of course, purely from observation, that the young woman was justly disliked in more than one quarter. One is scarcely surprised."

She paused to shrug her beefy shoulders and seemed to become aware for the first time that Adam was standing very still, staring past her right ear, with no expression whatever on his normally animated face. With something of an effort she returned to the attack.

"As I say, my son and I are among the few who can be of no assistance to you. You will no doubt find many whose movement will require investigation. He and I were together throughout the entire evening. I can assure you he was entirely without motive or opportunity for the shooting. And I must insist on taking him home. He is very high strung. This has been on ordeal."

She came to a full stop, and Adam executed a stiff little bow. It would have been funny, except for the fury of his eyes.

"Quite so," he observed coldly. He maneuvered her to the door, where she balked. She had been saving something for this moment—her parting shot. She produced it with depreciating wave of thick jeweled hands.

"I have just remembered—possibly of no value, but one never knows, does one? It must have been two or three weeks ago that I met Miss Carewe coming away from the colonel's quarters. She smiled and made some light remark, but one could see that she had been crying."

What response she had expected of Adam I do not know.

"One moment, Wheeler," he said impassively. "I'd like you to answer a question or two."

For a moment I thought she was coming back into the room, but Adam did not seem aware of her intention. He closed the door quite firmly in her face.

EXPERIENCE
Oft have I fretted over care
To see it pass and then return;
Walked many a mile of thoroughfare,
A tiny inch of gain to earn.

Oft have I dreaded cares to be,
And wished them something I could shun,
But something deep inside of me
Has held me fast till they were done.

And this I know, almost too late,
Who sits too long with fear and dread
Brings needless trouble to his gate
And needless worry to his bed.

It seemed this was no more than she had expected. A girl of such low principles as Anne Carewe—one could only be grateful for one's foresight in keeping clear of entanglements. It was clearly a mother's duty to protect an innocent boy—this last with a triumphant side glance at her thirty-year-old son.

My glance followed hers and lingered. I forgot to listen to her crude innuendoes, focusing instead sharply on the figure of the young

BANKERS' HEAD URGES CUT IN NATION'S DEFICIT

Houston, Tex., Nov. 15 (AP)—Orval W. Adams, president of the American Bankers association, demanded today that the federal government reduce the deficit and begin paying the public debt.

Making the annual president's address he said:

"By way of self-defense and in order to save the American system, we must organize our depositors and give them and all others who have accumulated something an economic education. This is the only practical way I know of to resist the pressure groups and vote-buying politicians who are destroying and wasting the savings of our depositors and of all our citizens who have worked and saved. x x x

"Never should the American Bankers association remain silent when politicians are spending the country into bankruptcy. x x x

"To the proposition that the worthy need must be taken care of, the American Bankers association is sincerely and wholeheartedly committed. But we must not forget that the destruction of savings and the starvation of production mean the loss of capacity to take care of the needy; that it is the thrifty citizens and not the government that must produce the money for this purpose."

Adams then turned to a discussion of the banks' huge holdings of government bonds.

"So long," he said, "as your depositors think of the purchase of government bonds by you as something that they do, not something different to it. When once your depositors realize that twenty or thirty or even forty per cent of their deposits have been invested by you in the obligations of a concern which has been losing money by the billions for more than seven years, their reaction will be quite different."

Motor Concern
To Stabilize
Yearly Wages

Detroit, Nov. 15 (AP)—General Motors corporation, announced to lay two benefit plans intended to assure hourly wage employees of weekly incomes throughout the year.

Chairman Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., said about 150,000 workers would fall within the scope of the plans.

The plans represent a large-scale attempt to level off the income "peaks" and "valleys" inherent in the seasonal automotive industry by using resources of the industry's largest corporation as a stabilizing factor.

Employees with five or more years of service will be entitled to advances in periods of curtailed employment sufficient to bring their aggregate weekly incomes from all sources to 60 per cent of their standard weekly earnings. That plan will be known as "the General Motors income security plan."

"Every employee eligible under the (income security) plan," Sloan said, "is enabled to make his personal arrangements for a full year ahead with assurances that in no week will his income be less than 60 per cent of standard weekly earnings."

Employees with two to five years of service will be entitled to advances in periods of subnormal activity equal to 40 per cent of their standard weekly earnings. That plan, which limits the advances to the equivalent of 72 hours of work, will be known as "the General Motors lay-off benefit plan."

Employees will be required to repay the advances by work performed when production increases.

The announcement said a suitable plan applicable to 37,000 salaried employees was being prepared.

If the total American income was divided evenly among all the 128 million inhabitants, each person would have received $469 or $9 a week, during 1935-36.

Tennessee Valley Authority Defended

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—Five division chiefs of the Tennessee valley authority declared today that the agency was functioning not only in producing electric power but in shaping and directing the activities of the communities within its scope. The reports of the division directors were filed with the congressional committee investigating T.V.A. when it resumed hearings.

Accepting the reports for further study, the committee cleared the way for testimony from four utilities executives criticizing allocations of power costs made by the T.V.A. in establishing its "yardstick" of electricity rates. The utilities representatives charged power costs were underestimated, thus permitting an electric rate destructive to private competition.

The report of the T.V.A. planning department denied there had been any attempt to "superimpose an inflexible physical plan on the valley." It said work was directed toward "providing an improved and broader resource base on which the region can itself meet its major problems."

Cold Winds From Canada Sweep State

(By the Associated Press)
Storm winds that whipped down from Canada and the Great Lakes spread winter cold across Pennsylvania today.

A violent westwind, accompanied by snow, battered Erie for several hours Monday, blew over two touristic cabins and hurled several mercantile signs around downtown streets.

In Philadelphia, a 30-mile an hour gale snapped off telephone poles, uprooted trees, broke communication wires and was indirectly responsible for several roof fires started by overheated furnaces.

The wind at Erie reached a 45-mile velocity. Churning waters from Lake Erie blocked one highway. Coast guards sped into the lake to rescue Edward Hahn, fish warden, whose boat drifted helplessly after the motor broke down.

The temperature dipped to 35 degrees. Pittsburgh registered 34 after windy, chilly day. The low at Philadelphia was 46, although the mercury started downward as the winds let up and the weather bureau predicted a 35-degree reading. Harrisburg had a reading of two degrees above normal and a forecast of "much colder."

Fair weather was promised the state for today. The weather man predicted slowly rising temperatures in western Pennsylvania, but warned it would be colder Wednesday. In the eastern part of the state, he said, there would be little change in temperature.

CARRIES "STREET" AWAY
Philadelphia, Nov. 15 (AP)—A contractor hauling dirt to fill swampy spots at a city airport discovered he had labored in vain. He unwittingly carted away about 5,500 cubic yards of an unpaved section of a city street. Now he is carting it back.

WASTED SHELL
Neffsville, Pa., Nov. 15 (AP)—Hunter Richard Markley just wasted ammunition when he shot a cock pheasant he saw standing erect in a corn field. When he picked it up he discovered it was cold and stiff, death apparently having occurred several days previously.

TRADE AGREEMENTS

CHINESE BURN CHANGSHA, GOAL OF JAPANESE

Shanghai, Nov. 15 (AP)—Changsha, capital of Hunan province and next major objective of the Japanese, appeared today to be doomed to virtually complete destruction by fire before the Japanese arrive.

Fragmentary advices reaching Shanghai indicated the populace of the city was panic stricken at the prospect of quick entry by the invaders, while Chinese troops burned buildings in keeping with their "scorched earth" policy.

The majority of Changsha's foreign residents were said to have taken refuge in the Standard Oil installations on the banks of the Siang river outside the city, where they were guarded by the British gunboat Sandpiper.

A group of foreign missionaries, however, mostly Americans, remained within the compound of the American Hunan Bible institute, inside the walls of the burning city. It was believed they would be reasonably safe there.

The principal foreign area, located on Shuihuchow island, was understood to have been subjected to peril of looting when retreating Chinese troops began to cross the river by way of the island. It was believed foreign property was not fired, however.

The exodus of soldiers and civilians from Changsha, which has a normal population of 500,000 increased. The few thousands remaining in the city were powerless against spreading fires.

Japanese reported their advance from the north continued without serious opposition and said they expected to reach the Hunan capital by Friday or Saturday.

Uncured fires in Hankow also continued to cause heavy destruction. Five great blazes, out of control because of lack of water, had been burning for three days.

5,000,000 acres in the total allotment for major crops.

The new maximum for soil-depleting crops of participating farmers will be from 270,000,000 to 285,000,000 acres. It will be lower than this year chiefly because of a reduced wheat allotment.

Congress has allotted $712,000,000 for benefits to farmers who comply.

The program, which is voluntary, is separate from the marketing quota provisions of the crop control act, which may become mandatory under certain conditions.

The voluntary program will follow the general outline announced August 16. A that time next year's wheat allotment was fixed at 55,000,000 acres, compared with a seeded acreage of 80,000,000 this year and an allotment of 62,500,000 acres.

Goals for cotton, corn, rice, flue-cured tobacco and general soil-depleting crops will be virtually the same next year.

When putting up preserves, use only new rubbers on the openings and check lids and jars closely to be sure they are airtight.

When Banker and Depositor know each other
This is a machine age in industry and the influence of machines will be still greater in the next decade.
Banking, however, is constantly becoming more personal. We are entering a period of better feeling and better understanding between banks and their depositors. Relations will be steadily closer, franker, and more confidential in character.
Because of its close connection with individual and community welfare, banking can never become mechanical in its service. It is more than ever important that the banker and the depositor know each other.

TURKEY CROP IN U. S. ABOVE '37
Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP).—That roasted bird on your Thanksgiving Day dinner table may have a smaller price on his missing head than his predecessor had last year.
This prospect was foreshadowed today by current quotations on the Chicago wholesale market. Furthermore, the specimens of turkeys, ducks and geese arriving here in increasing numbers for the special holiday trade indicated the traditional piece of resistance of Thanksgiving Day would be a little plumper.
Poultry developed for the holiday season of the next month and a half had a sweet time of it at the feeding pens. Gobblers and waddlers fattened themselves on the biggest and best rations in several years.
Wholesale markets for poultry have been fairly steady and instances from the past few days. Turkeys rose about 1/2 cent a pound but dealers said this was the result of a temporary pressing demand and prospects that the peak movement to market would be a little later than usual. They called the market "normal" with indications of a good supply to meet the expected big demand at attractive prices.
The nation's turkey crop was estimated to be 3.7 per cent larger than a year ago but 6 per cent smaller than in 1936. Average weight was expected to be approximately three to six ounces heavier. The latest census reported some 17,000,000 turkeys are raised annually for the American market and poultry experts have estimated that normally from 30 to 35 per cent of the crop is eaten at Thanksgiving time.
Young tom turkeys dressed were quoted in the wholesale market here around 25 cents a pound, with hens slightly higher. These prices were a shade lower than a year ago but five cents higher than in 1936. In 1935 dressed turkeys were around 30 cents. Live turkeys have advanced about a cent since November 1 and were quoted at 18 to 19 cents. Dressed ducks were quoted at 19 cents compared with 21 a year ago and 18 to 19 in 1936. Geese were 17 compared with 20 in 1937 and 16 to 17 in 1936. Chickens were four to five cents lower than a year ago.

"TRIPLET" TEAM
Philadelphia, Nov. 15 (AP).—There's two triple threats on the Union A. A. sandlot football team. One set of triplets does a good job of "holding that line." Another set plays in the backfield.

GOOD REASON
Lancaster, Pa., Nov. 15 (AP).—Officials of a Lancaster school, weary of finding an alley near the building blocked by automobiles, posted this sign: "Don't park here. We use the gate."
